SINEANN - RED TABLE WINE 2017

Sineann (shuh-NAY-uhn) is an Oregon based winery that specializes in small production wines. Since starting in the mid 90's, Peter Rosback has kept the operation small, focusing on getting ripe and intense fruit with balanced tannins and acidity. Combining an array of different barrel selects, Peter creates a red blend with powerful fruit and nice complexity. This "Table Red" is made using single-vineyard Pinot Noir, Merlot, and Zinfandel grapes with smaller amounts of Cabernet Sauvignon and Cabernet Franc added to round out the blend. This blend is absolutely perfect for this time of year when transitioning from dark and heavy reds to more balanced styles as we move into the warmer months. An intense nose of lavender, cedar, dark fruit, and damp earth is supported by a concentrated palate full of blueberries and plum, with hints of espresso beans and baking spice. Cheers!

ODD 13
If you're not familiar with sours, someone could hand you a glass full of Odd13's Razooka Jane with a little umbrella in it and you'd be forgiven for thinking it was some kind of tropical cocktail. It pours deep ruby red with snow white foam and a ton of haze. The nose is bright and fruity, and it sets the stage well for a creamy, medium-bodied ale with the perfect amount of tanginess to accentuate red berry and grapefruit notes with just a hint of sweet pineapple on the finish. The added lactose helps round out the kettle souring, and it's brewed with wild yeast rather than the brett or lactobacillus commonly used in sour beers, both of which cut down on that overpowering, sour candy acidity that often prevents them from being crushable. This is a beer for kicking back while the sun shines, as it brings the tropical vacation to you. Cheers!
