

LELIEVRE - GRIS DE TOUL ROSÉ 2018

It seems like we rounded a corner this weekend. The temperatures are rising, the melt-off is picking up steam, and it is time for rosé season to really kick in! So, this week I'd like to showcase one of my favorite rosés year after year. The Lelievre Gris de Toul comes from a winery that was started in 1971 when Jean Lelievre decided to bottle the family's grapes instead of selling them to neighboring winemakers. The land has been under vine for centuries since they were originally planted by the Romans. After working towards organic certification for a decade, conversion to organic officially started in 2018. This blend of Gamay and Pinot Noir is a beautiful salmon color and has a silky smooth and luscious mouthfeel. You'll love the delicious strawberry and cranberry flavors that burst from the glass. The finish is tart and refreshing, making this a perfect pick for the upcoming summer days! Cheers!

AMELIA

Get your truffle shuffle on this week with a log of La Bonne Vie Truffle Goat Cheese. La Bonne Vie is all about living "the good life," through their classic and authentic collection of cheeses. The truffle goat is bright and tangy from the freshness of the goat's milk with subtle earthy nuances from the addition of Black Summer Truffles. Easy to slice and easy to crumble, try this cheese in your next bowl of pasta, dolloped onto a roasted veggie pizza or crumbled onto your next salad. Pair alongside any style of Riesling or enjoy with a Saison or Sour beer. Usually $6.99 per 4oz log, the La Bonne Vie Truffle Goat Log will be on sale this week for only $4.99. Cheers and Bon Appetit!

OSKAR BLUES BREWING

Oskar Blues has released the second entry in their Can O Bliss rotating IPA series. A follow-up to the Tropical, this brew is dubbed Hazy, but doesn't fit the mold of the typical New England style. It pours a cloudy red-gold, almost like the color of a slightly unripe orange, with a ton of foam to seal in flavor and zesty floral and citrus hop aromas. Flavor-wise, it has some characteristics that are closer to a West Coast IPA, though. There are some prominent notes of orange zest and subtle cracker malt, but the hops aren't shy. You'll get some spicy and piney IBUs mixed in, especially on the back end, and a mostly clean finish. If you see "Hazy" and think this is going to drink like orange juice, you'll definitely be surprised. Overall, it's a very balanced and tasty IPA that's hard to compare to anything else out there right now.
