

This week I'm sticking with a classic; swiss cheese! Be sure to pick up a piece by the Grand Suisse dairy farm imported from... that's right, you guessed it; Switzerland! Grand Suisse Switzerland Swiss (say that five times fast) is a rind less cheese that is aged for 60 or more days. This all-natural cheese is made from fresh milk from cows fed on grass and hay, resulting in a smooth texture with gentle, easygoing flavors. Melt it on an egg sandwich, slice it on a ham sandwich, or put it on an egg and ham sandwich. This oldie but a goodie is also perfect for melting on burgers with mushrooms and caramelized onions, or for a healthier option dice up into a salad, a chef salad is particularly ideal. Usually $8.99 per 8oz block, this week the Grand Suisse Swiss, will be on sale for $6.99. Cheers and Bon Appetit!

NATHAN'S SELECTION

EVOLUCIO TOKAJ DRY FURMINT 2016

The Furmint grape has been dazzling poets, czars, and wine lovers alike for centuries – now it's your turn! Though Furmint's grand reputation is built on its role within the luscious Aszu wines of Hungary's Tokaj region, today's Hungarian vintners are exploiting the grape's capacity to shine in a dry white wine. This fine example of the dry style displays aromas of lemon blossom and ripe stone fruit, leading to a medium-bodied wine filled with white peach, lemon curd, and wonderfully zesty acidity. A small dose of Muscat lends aromatic interest and rounds out the shimmering intensity of the Furmint. This wine will work very nicely with all manner of raw seafood, and don't hesitate to let it play the 'squeeze of lemon' role alongside your next plate of roasted garlic chicken with cream sauce. Egészségére!

SOULCRAFT BREWING

This week we head west to visit Soulcraft Brewing out of Salida, CO. Sporting a new line-up of canned options, we set our sights on Sticky Pils, a dry-hopped German-style pilsner brewed for hop fans who enjoy a lighter body. The pour is a brilliant goldenrod with minimal carbonation and no head, already breaking the mold of your typical pilsner. On the nose, a tropical aroma of stone fruits and earthy hops prep the taste buds for the unique ride to come. Upfront, a bitter, resinous hop profile excites the palate just before being blanketed by a lush mouthfeel of sweet pilsner malt. As the beer warms the malt profile begins to dominate in flavor and the beer naturalizes into a more representative pilsner. For those willing to try something out of the ordinary, Sticky Pils is perfect for lager fans and hop heads alike looking to enjoy hop flavor without the breadth of an ale. Come in to pick up a 6-pack today and check out the rest of Soulcraft's selection. Cheers!
