

CASA SILVA - CARMENERE CUVÉE COLCHAGUA

It seems like everyone is going up to the mountains to see the beautiful changing of the leaves recently. I'm actually headed up this weekend too to soak in the fresh fall mountain air, but before I go, I want to share a delicious fall red with you all. We've been tasting some fantastic Chilean wines and this was a stand out for its value. Casa Silva has been growing grapes for generations and many of their vines are over 90 years old, having been carried over from Bordeaux by the first generation! Today, they are bottling their own estate wines and are leaders among premium wine producers in Chile. The Carmenere Cuvée is a versatile red characterized by blackberries, plums and cherries with nice intensity and depth. Minerality, floral notes and spice add complexity to its richness. You'll want to pair this with smoked, roasted or grilled meats, fajitas, game, and even bolognese sauce. Happy Fall, everyone!

GRIMM BROTHERS BREWHOUSE

While many breweries try to stay relevant by keeping up with the latest crazes in beer, the crew at Grimm Brothers Brewhouse has a different approach. Giving a modern twist strictly to historic German beers, this Loveland brewery not only remains relevant but consistently takes the podium at festivals around the world. Little Red Cap is Grimm Brothers' take on the German-style Altbier: a cold-matured, top-fermented concoction with characteristics of both a lager and an ale. The pour is a deep reddish copper topped by an off-white head that releases a dry and nutty aroma of cracker malt, caramel, and hints of grassy hops. On the palate, semisweet flavors of caramel and bread dough first hit the taste buds followed by more delicate flavors of dark red fruit, mild spice, and an earthy hop presence. Come in today and pick up a six-pack of the 2018 Great American Beer Festival silver medalist today. Prost!
