

DECOY BY DUCKHORN WINE COMPANY CABERNET SAUVIGNON 2016

I have been a long-time fan of Duckhorn wines in general and I just love their Napa line and single vineyard wines. They literally reached the top of the list with their Three Palms Merlot 2014 landing in the number one spot on Wine Spectator's Top 100 list of 2017. While these wines are all so amazing it is not often that the budget allows for $35+ wines for dinner. This is where the Decoy line from Duckhorn comes in to play! More of an entry level price point for fantastic wines that deliver much more than a glimmer of what Duckhorn has to offer. This Decoy Cabernet Sauvignon 2016 is a complete bottle of Cab with all the bells and whistles. Rich and robust with great dark fruit, supported by healthy tannin and a long finish. This wine would be perfect with a hearty red chili and fresh-from-the-oven cornbread. Cheers!

Besides being delicious you know what the best part about goat cheese is? It's the perfect blank canvas to go in either the sweet or savory direction. This week all flavored goat cheeses will be on sale at 20% off, so feel free to experiment with brands such as La Bonne Vie from France and Cypress Grove from California who makes a personal favorite of mine called Sgt. Pepper that is rubbed in exotic spices such as chilies, curry and harissa. Both these brands exemplify the versatility that goat cheese has and are sure to please the palate whether your preference is something on the sweeter or more savory side. Cheers and Bon Appetit!

Colorado Cider Company

Living in a state known for craft beer us denizens can easily overlook the collection of fermented treats Colorado has to offer. One style I'm particularly fond of is the cyser: a blend of honey and apple cider that produces a manageably acidic brew with fine-tuned sweetness. A unique and locally-sourced cyser comes from none other than Denver's own Colorado Cider Company. With the addition of lavender and rosemary, this cyser combines tart, floral, and resin for an unmatched flavor profile. Tart granny smith apple is first to hit the palate followed by a balancing honey sweetness and sharper flavors of pine and citrus that tickle every taste bud. All the while lavender plays its role by cushioning the mouthfeel which allows these flavors to seemingly hover over the tongue, out of reach of any cloying astringency. Unlike the highly acidic and bitter components of most ciders, the addition of wildflower honey in a cyser curbs that agonizing feeling from tannins we've all felt creep up the back of our jaws. While any fan of flavor is sure to enjoy this concoction, those who prefer white wine such as a Chenin Blanc or Brut Riesling could appreciate their similar structures. Come in and pick up a 6-pack of Pome Mel by Colorado Cider Company today. Cheers!
