

VAGLIO "TEMPLE" MALBEC 2016

Renowned Argentine winemaker, Susanna Bilbao was the first female winemaker in the country and now her son, José Lovaglio Balbo is following in her pioneering footsteps. Creating wines that exemplify the potential for Argentina to be a major viticultural leader, José is focusing on single vineyard bottlings to express specific micro-climates through a minimal winemaking approach. "Temple" is one of the four single vineyard wines that we carry from Vaglio. Though I recommended that you try them all, Temple stands out in that it offers a hearty, savory side of Malbec which is rarely expressed by other wines in this category. Notes of rose petals, cocoa, plum, and blueberries balance the savory side of this wine perfectly. Cheers!

This week I'm mixing things up with some awesome Colorado baked good mixes by Honeyville farms in Durango. Face it, we're all in a natural state of hibernation where it's second nature to want to sleep and eat more. I know I've upped my Netflix/Hulu couch binging while cooking more foods that bring me warmth and comfort in these colder months. With mixes such as pancakes and waffles, country biscuits and cornbread, these mixes are perfect for morning, noon and night eats. Top of the line quality, using all natural and organic ingredients I promise you will want to keep your griddles warm and your ovens ready to go. All 3 mixes will be on sale this week for $5.99, usually $6.99 so let the little baker inside you come out. Cheers and Bon Appetit!
