

HONORO VERA MONASTRELL ORGANIC 2017

Since it is still pretty darn cold out there I wanted to write up a red wine and was having a Cabernet sort of craving. However, I couldn't decide on a Cabernet from our organic selections so I went with what I thought would not only satisfy that Cabernet craving but draw some well-deserved attention to a grape that any Cabernet drinker would love! These organically grown Monastrell grapes have been tended to by four generations of the internationally recognized Gil family in Jumilla. Juan Gil, the more popular label in their repertoire is the flagship but this Honoro Vera Monastrell Organic 2017 is absolutely delightful! The stark contrast in temperature during the day and night as well as the stony earth that the vines are planted in give the distinct characteristics of not only Jumilla but the Gil family's prowess in winemaking under such conditions. From the kingdom of Monastrell we are happy to present you with this wine that engulfs your nostrils with a fantastic bouquet that is followed up with the same richness on the palate delivering fresh, dark fruits that fill your mouth and finish with lingering tannin. Great with a hearty stew on one of these chilly evenings! - cheers!

KERMIT LYNCH LANGUEDOC ROUGE 2015

I don't like to let the weather determine my wine choices, but as long as the snow is falling, I will keep reaching for robust red wines. One such red is Kermit Lynch's Languedoc Rouge. Since the early 1990s, Lynch has worked with vigneron Jean-Claude Zabalia to produce a wine that exemplifies the quality and value that reds from the Languedoc region can offer. In his Languedoc Red, Zabalia meticulously blends Grenache, Syrah, Carignan, and Cinsault to create one of the best values coming out of southern France. Aged in 70% stainless steel tank, 30% wood, this medium bodied red offers fresh aromas of spiced red plum and blackberry, while the palate presents black cherry, clove, subtle hints of vanilla, and velvety tannins. I suggest pairing a glass with braised beef ragu over rigatoni.

BEER OF THE WEEK ATTACHED

March is just around the corner, and if you want to get in the Celtic spirit a bit early, Irish Blessing from Boulder Beer is ready to kick off the festivities. This 6.2% ABV stout is brewed with local Ozo coffee and aged in ex-Tullamore Dew Irish whiskey barrels. It pours black as midnight and drinks like a nice cup of high-end cold brew, with dark chocolate and dark roasted coffee beans leading the charge for some oaky finishing notes with hints of malt whiskey. You'll be having a craicin' evening in no time. Cheers!
