

PRISMA ROSÈ 2018

Can we say that it's officially Rosè season again? Maybe I'm a little early, but we are starting to see the 2018 vintage trickle in, and I can't wait to share some of my new favorite pink wines! Prisma is a brand that has had my loyalty for many years and this is the first year that they are offering a Rosè. Made from 85% Pinot Noir and 15% Cinsault, this wine exudes a sophistication that I have come to expect from this fantastic Chilean producer. Bright flavors of strawberry, fresh grapefruit juice, and orange peel combine to create a palate that keeps you coming back for more. While Rosès pair with a wide variety of food, I would accompany this wine with strawberry balsamic glazed chicken or citrus grilled salmon. Cheers!

AMELIA'S

As a locally owned business since 2000, it's always a pleasure to find locally made products to grace our shelves. This week's food pick is a line of pickled products made right in Louisville, CO. In 2014 proprietor Eric Vierra took his life-long passion for food and pickling and launched The Good Jar. Working with local Colorado farms, The Good Jar takes organic produce and creates relishes, preserves and pickled goods in small batches for maximum flavor and freshness. Be sure to pick up a jar of Dilly Beans, which comes in both plain or smoked paprika, or grab a jar of Asparagus Spears for only $6.99, usually $9.99! Pickled products not only have great health benefits but are a perfect addition to a savory sandwich or as a garnish for the perfect bloody mary. Cheers and Bon Appetit!

FINKEL AND GARF

If you find yourself in the mood for a dark beer lover's dark beer, look no further than Finkel and Garf's Bourbon Barrel Aged Imperial Stout. This no-messing-around ale pours black and silky like volcanic obsidian and has enough bourbon on the nose that you might trick yourself into believing you just poured yourself a glass of something stronger. There's a lot going on when it hits your tongue, from roasty malts that dissolve into semi-sweet chocolate, to hints of rich oak and whiskey character. It's not too strong on that bourbon "bite" like some other bourbon-aged stouts, but at 10% alcohol, it's definitely got some kick. It's the perfect brew for a moonless night of plotting world domination. Cheers!
