

DOMAINE FENOUILLET
- VAUCLUSE ROUGE
2018

I just revisited a great old world bargain this past week. Domaine Fenouillet Vacluse rouge from the Southern Rhone is a delicious blend of certified organic Marselan (a cross between Cabernet Sauvignon and Grenache) and Merlot that really over-delivers for the price. Originally, this estate started in Beaugues de Venice in the Southern Rhone, producing award winning Muscat Beaugues de Venice. Over the next couple of generations, the Soard family grew their holdings to the current vineyards in seven different surrounding communes. During the expansion phase, the grapes were sold off to the local cooperative and now great grandsons and current owners Patrick and Vincent are renewing the fame of the estate by making and bottling the estate wines. The Vacluse Rouge is a juicy wine with fresh red fruits and plums mixed with underbrush and forest floor in a medium bodied and silky style. This is a great wine for this time of year as we start moving into cooler nights! Cheers!

I hope a wonderful Labor Day was had by all and if you didn't go all out or a "little ham," this past weekend you still can with this week's food pick. I'm very excited to have found what is a world-renowned cut of meat available in a conveniently pre-sliced package from Spain; Iberico Ham produced by Fermin Salamis. Iberico is the legendary breed of pig popularly known as Pata Negra or black hoof. The breed is considered the best for producing high quality dry cured hams with unsurpassed taste and aroma and are considered the "Kobe beef of pork." Fermin's Iberico Ham is sliced traditionally thin and the best way to enjoy this delicacy is with some peaks of baguette, a wedge of Manchego cheese and a glass of Spanish red wine (think Tempranillo or Garnacha). Usually $12.99 per 2oz package, Fermin's Iberico Ham will be on sale for only $10.99 so be sure to treat your palate to a little gift. Cheers and Bon Appetit!
