

HONORO VERA

ORGANIC MONASTRELL 2018

With all that snow this weekend I was in a big red sort of mood and was having a Cabernet kind of craving. However, I couldn't decide on a Cabernet from our organic selections so I went with what I thought would not only quench that Cabernet craving, but draw some well-deserved attention to a grape that any Cabernet drinker would love! These organically grown Monastrell grapes have been tended to by four generations of the internationally recognized Gil family in Jumilla. Juan Gil, the more popular label in their repertoire, is their flagship wine, but this Honoro Vera Monastrell Organic 2017 is absolutely delightful! The stark contrast in temperature during the day and night as well as the stony earth the vines are planted in give the distinct characteristics of not only Jumilla but the Gil family's prowess in winemaking under such conditions.

From the kingdom of Monastrell we are happy to present you with this wine that engulfs your nostrils with a fantastic bouquet that is followed up with the same richness on the palate. This wine delivers fresh, dark fruits that fill your mouth and finish with lingering tannin. Great with a hearty stew on one of these chilly evenings! Cheers!

This week don't miss out on snagging a piece of well-aged cheese at a steal that will make you say everything is "all gouda." Gouda, pronounced Houda, is Holland's most beloved cheese and the Van Kaas line of Goudas from the Netherlands is as authentic as it gets. Even better is the price point, making it an affordable luxury that quite frankly rivals other Goudas at much higher prices. When a cheese such as Gouda ages, it goes from being creamy and buttery to nutty and lightly sweet with crystalized deposits that are packed with flavors of caramel and butterscotch. Like really good chocolate this aged gouda takes a few seconds to fully come to life on the palate and when it does it's such a reward. Usually $7.99 per 6oz wedge, the Van Kaas Aged Gouda will be on sale this week for only $4.99! Cheers and Bon Appetit!
