

DECERO MALBEC

One of the best things about Malbec from Argentina is that you don't have to break the bank for a fantastic bottle of wine! Decero Malbec is a prime example of the quality to value ratio that comes from truly well done Malbec. Located in the Mendoza sub-appellation of Agrelo, the vines are grown at 3500 feet in altitude, in the Remolinos Vineyard's coarse soils. This combination of terroir and climate help to formulate the beginnings of a very elegant wine with elevated aromatics, and deep, pure fruit. Violets and spring fields fill the nose with anticipatory fruit opening up the palate for that trademark Argentine expression of Malbec. The finish is polished and smooth, with lasting, supple tannin and a distant sense of place. This wine is amazing paired with pork chops and sautéed veggies!

This week be sure to save on the classic Celestial Seasonings of Boulder, CO. A long-established tea company, founded in 1969, Celestial Seasonings all started when founder Mo Siegel handpicked wild herbs in Colorado's Rocky Mountains and used them to make teas that he sold to local health food stores in Boulder. In 1972 they launched their first flavors; Red Zinger and Sleepytime (a staple in my home) and since then have grown to serve more than 1.6 billion cups a year! As they have grown over the decades one thing that remains is the company's core values of making a product that is both good for people and the planet. This week all boxes of Celestial Seasonings will be on sale for only $2.99, usually $4.99! With multiple flavors to choose from be sure to stock up with this all-time classic. Cheers and Bon Appetit!
