

NEXT COLUMBIA VALLEY

RED BLEND

King Estate produces and bottles "Next" red blend, the newest addition to their portfolio in Eugene Oregon. The fruit however comes from farther north in the Columbia Valley. Diverse, well-draining soils that swept south with the Missoula floods at the end of the last ice age created idyllic conditions for viticulture. At a latitude similar to that of Bordeaux in France, the Columbia Valley lends itself to growing full bodied red varieties. Next Red Blend is 40% Syrah, 40% Merlot, and 20% Cabernet Sauvignon aged in 25% new French oak. This combination creates a seamless palate of blueberry, blackberry, and plum intertwined with cassis, cedar, and clove. Try alongside grilled lamb or a sampling of aged cheeses like Vann Kass aged Gouda which we have priced at $8.99! Cheers!

There is a saying in the world of cheese that the "stinker the cheese, the better." This week's food pick is a locally made take on famous styles of French cheeses, and fair warning; these fromages bring the funk. MouCo Cheese Company of Fort Collins, CO produces a line of beautifully crafted, soft-ripened cheeses that are packed with flavor that pop on the palate and pack a bit of a punch on the nose, in the best of ways possible. MouCo is an award winning cheese-company, taking home the gold and numerous first place prizes from the American Cheese Society over the course of the past 15 years. This week MouCo's award winning Camembert and Coulourge cheeses will be on sale for only $5.99, usually $8.99, per 4oz disk. At this savings I encourage and also dare you to take the plunge into the world of beautiful stinky cheeses. The Camembert with its buttery, creamy texture, and buttery rich flavors when ripe, pairs wonderfully alongside a glass of Chardonnay or bubbles. The ColoRouge is also soft and creamy with bright acidity and as it reaches its ripened perfection takes on pronounced earthy notes, making it beautiful alongside a glass of Pinot Noir, particularly from Burgundy. Cheers and Bon Appetit!
