CASTELGUFO ORGANIC CHIANTI RISERVA 2016

JAMIE Looking for an organic red blend that offers as much complexity as it does versatility? At a friendly price point, Castelgufo Chianti Riserva exemplifies the value that can be found in Italian reds. This delightful blend of Sangiovese, Colorino, and Malvasia Nera comes from the heart of Tuscany between Pisa and Florence. For three generations, the Cerster Winery has been producing award winning wines that are approachable and affordable without compromising quality. A nose of red berry fruit, spice, and subtle floral notes leads to cherry, currant, and raspberry on a medium-bodied palate with hints of clove and cocoa and soft tannins. Pair a glass of Castelgufo with anything from homemade flatbread pizza to bison burgers with goat cheese, caramelized onions, and date spread. Cheers! - Jamie

This week's food pick is a cheese that combines two of my favorite things into one delectable bite. Be sure to pick up a wedge of Mitica Drunken Goat, a Spanish goat's milk cheese that spends 2-3 days soaking in a red wine paste made from the Monastrell grape, hence the playful name. After its red wine bath, the cheese is then aged for two and a half months giving way to a semi-soft and creamy texture and gentle fruity flavors. The time spent in wine and the short aging process makes this a crowd-pleaser, perfect for parties or just enjoying an afternoon snacking on the porch. Try this cheese alongside a fruity, lighter bodied red wine like a Beaujolais or a Spanish Garnacha. Usually $9.99 per 6oz wedge, the Mitica Drunken Goat will be on sale this week for $7.99. Cheers and Bon Appetit!
