ELENA WALCH ROSÉ 20/26

With the relentless July heat upon us, seek solace in a cool glass of Elena Walch Rosé! In 2012, I had one of my first "ah-ha" wine moments tasting through Elena Walch's stunning line-up. Along with her daughters, Julia and Karoline, Elena has created one of the leading estates in northern Italy's Alto Adige region. Architect turned winemaker, Elena took it upon herself to elevate the region, promoting high standards and innovation within her local wine community. Her 20/26 Rosé is a cuvee of Lagrein, Pinot Noir, and Merlot, produced in the saignée method. A floral bouquet of cherry blossom, apricot, and kumquat with a subtle spicy undertone leads to a medium-bodied palate of red plum, cranberry, blood orange, and grapefruit, with mouthwatering acidity. Cheers!

You know what makes food taste better? When it's shared with friends! This week's food pick is a line of gourmet spreads by Mt Vikos of Greece that are perfect for sharing with company. Mt Vikos products bare the Greek PDO (Protected Designation of Origin) meaning all ingredients and packaging must be done in Greece making these products as authentic as it gets. They are a non-GMO verified company, never using antibiotics or preservatives, just clean and simple ingredients that pack tons of flavor. Available in three types; Artichoke (artichoke hearts with lemon, garlic and herbs), Roasted Eggplant (smoky eggplant with sundried tomatoes and herbs) and Red Pepper Feta (flamed roasted Florina peppers and authentic Greek Feta) these spreads can be enjoyed either hot or cold and work perfectly on crackers, freshly sliced Italian bread or even as a condiment substitute for a sandwich. Usually $7.99 per 7.3oz container all Mt Vikos spreads will be on sale this week for only $5.99. Cheers and Bon Appetit!
